

BULLETS AND NOT REFORMS.

That Is What Spain Holds in Reserve for Cuba.

WEYLER'S WISH PREVAILS.

The Government's Significant Selection of Members of the New Cortes.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, April 24.—The Sun has the following cable from Havana, under date April 22, via Tampa:

There is no truth in the report that reforms are about to be put into effect in Cuba. Several cablegrams on the subject have recently passed between the Madrid officials and Gen. Weyler. The Captain-General was asked if it would be possible immediately after the assembling of the new Cortes next month to implant in Cuba the reforms which were passed early in 1935.

Gen. Weyler replied that the island must first be pacified. That settled the matter, for while Weyler remains Captain-General his wishes will be paramount.

The report that reform measures would be put into effect has no basis further than that the home government has urged Gen. Weyler on the subject and received a negative reply.

The sentiment in Spain is said to be divided on the subject. That the Government is not anxious to make concessions is indicated by the naming of the editor, the proprietor and the correspondent of El Herald of Madrid as members of the new Cortes to represent Cuba. The other Madrid papers have been less than forthcoming in their utterances, and their editors have not been named for the Cortes. These papers are now voicing the constantly growing dissatisfaction with the conduct of the war in Cuba.

OUTRAGE ON DELGADO.

Spain Called to Account and Will Probably Apologize.

CHICAGO, April 24.—A dispatch to the Times-Herald from Washington, D. C., says:

Spain has been called to account for the outrage committed on Dr. Jose Manuel Delgado, an American citizen, on March 4, on that gentleman's plantation in the province of Malaga, Cuba.

There has been considerable correspondence between the United States and Spain on the subject, and the facts of the brutal character of the outrage are so well authenticated that the latter country has shown itself to be not averse to making amends. It is confidently believed by the State Department authorities that as a result of their protest Spain will tender another apology to the United States and will remove the officer in command of the detachment of soldiers who directed the occurrence which is now the cause of complaint. This will be followed by the submission of a claim for a money indemnity, which is now being prepared by Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey, Dr. Delgado's attorney in this city.

Perhaps the most important evidence is that which shows that Capt. Gen. Weyler, when he received a protest from Consul-General Williams, promptly stopped the proceedings which were in progress on the Delgado plantation, and had Dr. Delgado, who had been cut and shot, removed to a safe place, where he was given the best medical attention.

"THIS NATION TO LET."

Fierce Sarcasm of a Madrid Journal Causes Trouble.

NEW YORK, April 24.—A special to a local paper from Madrid says: A determined agitation has been started in Madrid and the provinces with a view to making capital out of any concession the Queen Regent and her Ministers may make to America on the Cuban question. The violent tone of most of the Madrid newspapers seems to have made a deep impression on official circles. The public prosecutor has instituted proceedings against the El Republicano newspaper for its article attacking the Queen Regent and the Government for its alleged surrender of the rights, dignity and honor of Spain, suggesting that placards be posted on all the frontiers of Spain announcing: "This nation to let at economical rates. For reference apply to Cleveland. The Janitress has the key."

514 and 516 OLIVE STREET.

Herald from Havana says: The trial of Julio Sanguilly, the American who was charged with kidnapping Fernandez de Castro, has resulted in his acquittal. De Castro, who took the lead in the prosecution of Sanguilly from the outset, lost three country estates by fire on the same day that Sanguilly was acquitted.

Rev. Diaz at Chattanooga. CHATTAHOOGA, Tenn., April 24.—Rev. Albert Diaz, the Baptist missionary at Chattanooga, will attend the Southern Baptist Convention which meets in Chattanooga on May 8. He will deliver services while here on the condition of affairs in Cuba. It is expected that 5,000 delegates will attend the convention.

VERY WISE TRIO.

Keepers of the Sleeper Hill Suspects "Say Nothing and Keep Mum."

Robert Bell, Mike Trainer and Conroy Gorman, the suspected Sleeper Hill robbers, who have been here since early in the week, are still in custody at the Four Courts.

They were to have been taken to Lebanon last Wednesday morning, but the programme was changed and this fact seems to have been carefully concealed by the police authorities.

Special Officer Dodge of the Wells-Fargo Express Co., and Sheriff Frank Jones of Laclede County are still in the city. Neither of them will talk, and Chief Desmond, when questioned, looks wise and says he thinks crops will be good this year if we have plenty of rain.

The only information the trio will vouchsafe is that the prisoners will probably be taken to Lebanon Saturday morning.

Price of Friendship.

Thomas Dougherty did not know he was jointly charged with Bernard Riley for stealing Dr. D. Oenich's bicycle, so he called at the Four Courts to bail his friend Riley out and instead landed in jail himself.

SHE'S TIRED OF HER HUSBAND.

Mysterious Separation of Mr. and Mrs. Altheimer.

THEY ELOPED A YEAR AGO.

Mrs. Altheimer Has Returned to Her Parents and Her Lawyer Is Preparing a Divorce Suit.

It is not quite a year since 17-year-old Ophelia Schaffrath, with her girlish heart filled with all sorts of romantic notions, ran away to Springfield, Ill., and was married to Ulysses Altheimer.

Now she is the mother of a 2-months-old girl, and has taken steps to sue for divorce.

The grounds for her suit are a mystery to all but herself and her father, A. Schaffrath, with whom she is living at 3104 Washington avenue.

The separation three weeks ago was sensational. After the elopement the couple returned to St. Louis, and though she lived there until last December, when they returned to this city and lived with Mrs. Altheimer's parents.

Husband and wife seemed devotedly attached to each other. On Thursday, April 2, Mr. Altheimer returned home at 5 o'clock in the evening, after being down town, and was met at the door by Mr. Schaffrath, who commanded him to leave the place and never return.

It was an awful surprise to the young man, and he asked what it meant. He was told to ask no questions, but to leave the place as soon as possible.

He was told to leave the place, and he did. He came to the door and told her husband she did not want to see him. Finally she came to the door and told her husband she did not want to see him.

Altheimer left the house and remained away a week, living at a hotel, thinking his wife would make some explanation, but she did not. He then wrote to his father and that gentleman, Col. Louis Altheimer, came at once to this city.

The young man wrote a letter each day to the Schaffraths, promising to return, but he never returned. He was not successful in his suit.

Col. Altheimer returned to Arkansas a few days ago, and the son is thinking of taking legal procedure to obtain possession of the child. He says there is no possible grounds on which his wife can obtain a divorce; in fact, he says he does not believe she desires a separation, but she is influenced by some one else. He is confident that a reconciliation will be reached and that he and his wife will live together.

Mrs. Altheimer's attorneys will file the suit for divorce in a few days. It is thought that the grounds on which his wife can obtain a divorce; in fact, he says he does not believe she desires a separation, but she is influenced by some one else. He is confident that a reconciliation will be reached and that he and his wife will live together.

Mr. Altheimer has retained Charles Nolan as his attorney, and will fight any allegations made by his wife.

BELL FIVE STORIES.

But John McDonald Still Lives to Tell How It Feels.

John McDonald, 50 years old, laborer, living near Ninth and Morgan, fell from the fifth story of the new Liggett & Meyers building, Tower Grove and Folsom avenues, Friday morning.

McDonald landed in the basement. His left arm was splintered, and he sustained numerous cuts about the head and face. Dr. W. A. Hall of 63 Tower Grove avenue attended McDonald, and pronounced his injuries not fatal. McDonald was sent to the Mulvaney Hospital.

"TUCK" RYAN AT IT AGAIN.

Discharged by Judge Murphy, He Rebo Fiedler's Saloon.

"Tuck" Ryan is at it again. He was discharged by Judge Murphy only two days ago when arraigned before him for stabbing a policeman. The judge ruled that he had a right to kill the policeman for attacking him without a warrant.

At 1 o'clock Thursday morning Ryan and "Pumpy" Ryan, 1230 Biddle street, while Ryan engaged the proprietor in conversation, the latter Carr sneaked in and tapped the till of $10. Fiedler caught him in the act.

Officer Schaeffer arrested Carr. Ryan was not apprehended, as the police did not have a clear case against him.

CHIEF EAGLE STABBED.

Eph Houston Badly Wounded by One of His Lieutenants.

Eph Houston, a negro whose name is familiar to newspaper readers because of various painfully humorous allusions to his power in politics, growing out of his chiefdom of the "Eagle's Nest" and other clubs, claiming that they were his property, was stabbed in the chest by one of his lieutenants, John Bailey, a fugleman of the Chief Eagle, stabbed him in the chest, Friday morning about 1:30 o'clock in Houston's room, in the rear of 110 South Eighth street.

He was arrested at his home, and when returned he caught Bailey coming out. There was already a strong feeling of jealousy about the club, and there is no doubt that Bailey's knife would have found Houston's throat, had he not been so lucky.

He was taken to his home and locked up pending the result of Houston's wound, which may prove fatal.

A BLUE-EYED BABY DOLL.

It Broke One of Mr. Lewis' Teeth and Led to a Law Suit.

The trouble caused by a baby doll on May 17, 1932, engaged the serious attention of Circuit Judge Withrow, two lawyers, two doctors and a jury Thursday afternoon.

The doll was not in evidence and the testimony did not develop whether it has gone to pieces or grown big enough to talk since 1932.

Instead of being the heart's delight of some bright little girl, the unfortunate doll was doomed to be termed a "missile containing a hard substance" by the lawyers and be thrown by Mr. John C. Janopoulo.

The doll's china head broke one of Mr. Charles A. Lewis' front teeth and caused him pain and dentists' bills. Hence the suit for $1,000 damages. Mr. Lewis against Mr. Janopoulo.

The testimony showed that Mr. Janopoulo was reading a book while Mr. Lewis was in the Webster Groves home May 17, 1932. In the seat behind him Mr. Lewis and three companions were playing high five.

The train newsboy threw a doll on the card board and some of the players put it on Mr. Janopoulo's shoulder a few times. Whether he saw any special significance in the doll on his shoulder did not develop, but witnesses for Mr. Lewis agreed that he looked "annoyed" and "disturbed" as he tossed it back whence it came. The witnesses insisted that Mr. Lewis did not put the doll on Janopoulo's shoulder.

A verdict was returned Friday in favor of Mr. Lewis for $100 damages.

GRASPING CONTRACTOR.

He Rather Has the Drop on Raymond Place Citizens.

The residents and property owners in Raymond Place are kicking at the extortionate charges of a contractor who is trying to make them pay extra for sewer connections with the new district sewer which has been built out there.

There was a private sewer out there which had been built at the expense of the property owners. Some time ago it was decided to build a regular district sewer, also at the cost of the property in the shape of special tax bills.

The sewer was built and all connections with the private sewer broken by the contractor in order that he might build the new one. He now sends his agent, Louis Steiger, to make all he can out of it. He informs them that for $15 he will restore the connections he has broken.

The Commission Colby, when asked about the case, said: "I believe G. Ryan, man, Jr., has the contract, and he is a contractor. He is making all he can out of it. We have a law as to connecting water or gas pipes, but we have none as to sewer pipes. The contractor can charge whatever he can get, but I think if the property holders took the matter into court, they could make him connect them up again with the new sewer."

HEIR TO $4,000,000.

But an Incredible Constabulary Sent Him to the Hospital.

"I have just been appointed Inspector of Police! Send a man with me to inspect the buildings! Yesterday I fell heir to $4,000,000. To-morrow I will give you $1,000,000 apiece!"

Thus exclaimed August Volmer as he rushed into the Chestnut Street Police Station at 2:30 o'clock Friday morning.

"Go on!" said Deputy Henry Hogan. "Wotter you give us?"

Sergeant Daily questioned the man and sent him to the Dispensary. He was forwarded to the City Hospital on suspicion of being insane.

Volmer is 35 years old. He is a stonemason and lives at 229 Clark avenue.

She Had Her Wits About Her.

Miss Carrie Wilson of 3113 Klein street was sleeping peacefully at 2:30 o'clock Friday morning when the light of glaring flames shining through the window awakened her.

Looking out she discovered fire in the back two-story house, 3113 Klein street, next door, belonging to Henry Hannueller of 2209 Salisbury street.

Miss Wilson hastened to the corner of Blair avenue and Angelot street where she turned in a fire alarm. The blaze was extinguished without serious damage.

THE ETHICAL CULTURE COURSES.

The Ethical Congress now holding its first session in St. Louis is composed of one of the leading thinkers, writers and reformers in the country, both men and women. Most of its members come from the larger cities and the scope of the work of the several societies forming the Congress is the dissemination of correct knowledge on literature and art, the teaching of right ideas on philosophy, economic, political and moral questions, and, above all, the application of reform methods to all the affairs that enter into the social, civic, governmental and business relations of mankind.

In the field last named we members of the Ethical Congress will find their widest province for usefulness and their best opportunity for improving the physical comfort and increasing the content and opportunities for wage earning among the masses in the great cities. All of the societies have achieved practical results in this direction already. The present Congress will afford the means for leading reform plans among all the ethical culture bodies by each adopting the best methods in practice by every other.

All such movements are bound to do good. In selecting St. Louis as the place for their first Congress the Ethical Societies have given evidence of excellent taste and judgment.

THE MAYOR A POOR EXEMPLAR.

In his speech at the opening of the Builders' Exchange Thursday night, Mayor Walright said that all the people in the world can be separated into two classes, "those who make things and those who break things." His honor, wandering into politics, declared: "There are builders and wreckers in politics. On one side you will find those who are trying to build up the community, who favor progress and development and by their industry add strength to the financial condition of their city. Others are busily engaged in tearing down the solidity of the community."

Apparently the Mayor would have his hearers think he belongs to the former of these two classes. How can the official head of a community consider himself as "building it up," favoring progress and "adding to the financial condition of the city" when he deliberately and repeatedly absents himself from his official duties in order to go on political junketing trips and takes from the taxpayers money for the time he has neglected his duty?

In the light of his own actions to reform Mayor is poorly qualified to array himself with the forces in a community that conserve "progress, industry and financial strength."

flowers and some of the cordon of police strung across the parquette cautioned them to "shut up and sit down."

Perhaps were Mr. Carlisle speaking on the financial side of the currency issue, he would not be so averse to enlightening an honest doubter. It is not as easy to answer questions on a subject that the mind has studied three years as on one that it has devoted itself to advocating for thirty years. Mr. Carlisle's ignoring of questions shows that he sought silence as a cloak for inability to answer. The willingness to answer reasonable questions put to him by his auditors is a sure sign of honesty and sincerity in a speaker. Imagine Bland or Boies, Alldredge or Vest refusing to answer questions asked them on the stump. These men speak with honest lips from patriotic minds seeking to enlighten. Carlisle puts forth sophistries intended to mislead and beg the people, and which to have effect must go unchallenged.

CONGRESSIONAL SCRAPPING.

The spectacle of Congressmen Hall of Missouri and Money of Mississippi engaged in a fist fight and hurling books and inkstands at each other's heads, while clerks and pages looked on in amazement, would have better graced some low dive in the purlieus of Washington City than the precincts of the National Capitol.

It would seem that the Gollath-like proportions of the Congressmen from the Second Missouri District, together with the proficiency acquired while a boy at knocking "possums out of perlimmon trees with sticks down in Southwestern Missouri, enabled him to overcome his frail antagonist by striking him in the temple with a book.

Mr. Hall appears to have better success as a rough-and-tumble fighter than as a debater on the gold standard side of the currency question. Among pugilists he is esteemed a great politician and among politicians a great pugilist.

But, jesting aside, the spectacle of two Congressmen fighting one another like a pair of hoodlums is far from edifying, and will tend to confirm the poor opinion which the people have been acquiring of the men at Washington elected to make laws.

ARIZONA AND NEW MEXICO.

In no instance was the gross injustice of partisan politics more strongly exemplified than in the change placed on the admission of Arizona and New Mexico into the Union as States six years ago by a Republican Congress, when Idaho and Wyoming were made States.

The census of 1890 gave New Mexico a population of 144,862, or more than Idaho and Wyoming combined, and Arizona had nearly 80,000. The former contained three-fifths as many people as Montana, Nevada, Wyoming and Idaho all together and the latter as many as any one of these, except the first and last. In wealth, area and resources the contrast is even more striking.

Arizona exceeds in extent Rhode Island, Delaware, New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, Maryland, West Virginia and South Carolina combined. Its forest area contains 100,000,000 feet of unsawn lumber. Last year its mineral output included gold $4,260,000, silver $1,137,500, copper $5,297,000, and lead $1,000,000. Its exports of hides, lumber, fruit and farm products were considerable. Its taxable property is valued at $27,318,332 and last year it added 45,000 acres of arid land to its tillable area by irrigation.

New Mexico is larger in the extent of arable and grazing land than her neighbor territory, and exceeds her in population, and abounds in silver, gold and lead mines. Last year she exported 150,000 cattle and 120,000 sheep, besides other products. Taxable property in New Mexico is assessed at over $40,000,000.

The House Committee on Territories has reported in favor of the application for Statehood of both these Territories. Their admission by the present Congress would be an agreeable surprise, as well as an act of tardy justice. Had a majority of their citizens been Republicans Arizona and New Mexico would have been States several years ago.

It is a black disgrace to the so-called civilized nations of Europe that the Armenians are not rescued from their tormentors and the Turks punished for the murderous work that has been done. Must Europe always be too busy in slaughtering negroes to find time for the protection of Christian people?

The assertion of some Spiritualists that phantoms do not affect cemeteries seems to be contradicted by the New York policeman who has just seen a tomb open and an apparition float out. As the new law is being rigidly enforced, who shall say that the bobby didn't really see the spook?

Democrats expecting to go to Chicago feel better

LATHAM GOES TO THE BENCH.

Captain of the Browns Laid Off for Poor Playing.

MEYERS WILL REPLACE HIM.

Hard-Mitter Douglas Will Relieve Tommy Niland in Right Field—General Sporting News.

As a result of his poor playing, especially in Thursday's game against Chicago, Walter Arlington Latham, Captain of the St. Louis base ball team, has been laid off indefinitely.

Bert Meyers, the youngster secured from the Nashville team of the Southern League, will succeed Latham as third baseman. Latham will be replaced by Tommy Niland, who has played right field in the last four games, will be moved to left field.

It is probable that Tommy Niland, who has played right field in the last four games, will be moved to left field. The local patrons of base ball will be much pleased with these changes. The team will be strengthened 100 per cent by the daily presence of Meyers and Niland in the game. Manager Diddlebock shows excellent judgment in reorganizing the club.

It is a great pity that he did not do so one week ago. The Browns would have been at least two games better off.

However, it is better late than never, and when due consideration is given the matter it will be seen that Mr. Diddlebock could not very well have acted sooner. He had to give the players a chance to show their form. It would not have been fair or wise to take snap judgment on their work in one game.

Back of the shake-up lies an interesting story of ill-feeling, friction and disorganization, which, when told, will show how Latham was laid off. Latham was laid off with one-half of their number arrayed against the other.

It would appear from the stories told by persons very close to the team that Latham was laid off because of his poor playing while on the Southern trip in Texas. The good men on the team saw that Meyers would play better third base than Latham in his best days ever dreamed of. One of them said last week to a Post-Dispatch reporter: "Meyers can play third better than any man in the League."

Although they would deny it if they were questioned on the subject, Connor, Cross, Quinn, Cooley, Dowd, Breitenstein and Hart all want Meyers on third. The big first baseman and the pitchers were especially anxious to see Latham suspended. Connor shines as a pitcher, stopping low throws and Hart and Breitenstein know they can win more games with Meyers in the game than they can with Latham. This feeling was rampant when the team returned from the South, but it was not until Wednesday that it was publicly manifested.

After his wretched showing in the first two games, the players fully expected that Latham would be removed. When this was not only not done, but Niland, his protegee, was put in right field, the disgruntled broke forth in a fierce flame. The players wanted Douglas in right, but they could not see why Shuehans was let out to make place for Niland, a man who was released by Grand Rapids, the worst team in the Western League last year according to the way the players figure it. Niland is the worst man on the team, but Latham, Hogan would have been preferable.

All this antagonism to Latham and Niland is due solely to the other players and their hitting in games. It is not the result of any private spite or outside ill-feeling. Every good player in the club is thoroughly imbued with the feeling that properly organized the club would be a better team. They feel that unless an immediate "shake up" took place they would be fighting for last place with the Browns.

"There is a first division team on that bench," said a Chicago player, yesterday, "but it is not on the bench."

During the past week the members of the regular team have been talking in words of double meaning, dropping hints about "the shake up" to the young men. Their remarks were meant for certain ears. Still, the young men are older wiser to see what kind of an order was to be given them. They were told they would be laid off and they were told they would be laid off. They were told they would be laid off and they were told they would be laid off.

The impending storm broke after yesterday's game. Feelings that had hitherto found expression in winks, smiles and innuendoes, were loudly and fearlessly voiced. The presence of Latham in no way covered or softened the young men. Their remarks were to the point and were meant for Manager Diddlebock's ear.

They freely charged that the Captain and third baseman was not doing his duty; that he let Monte Cross cover his territory for him; that he shirked his grounders; that he was playing a game calculated to make Latham shine at the expense of the team; and that his work on the coaching lines was contrary to the laws of good baseball and discipline.

They also made known their intense desire to have Douglas right field by loudly voicing their opinion that "he is the best hitter in the league, and should be in the game every day."

That the loud howls of discontent and dissatisfaction reached Manager Diddlebock's ears is evidenced by the fact that Mr. Latham will, if the programme outlined last night is carried out, warm the bench for some time to come.

While the Post-Dispatch has been for some time consistent of the dissatisfaction existing in the team, it was not until a late hour this morning that it was positively known that Latham had been laid off.

As Manager Diddlebock had gone to Cairo,

Ill., where the team plays an exhibition game to-day, it was impossible to obtain confirmation from him. A Post-Dispatch reporter also visited Sportsman's Park, but Mr. Von der Ahe was not to be found.

The Post-Dispatch's information comes from a reliable source, and while it is possible that Manager Diddlebock and Mr. Von der Ahe may reconsider their determination to bench the Captain of the team, there is doubt that Latham was benched yesterday that he would be laid off in Saturday's game with Louisville.

Everybody who has observed the individual play and team work of the Browns during the Cleveland and Chicago games will heartily endorse the action taken by Von der Ahe and Manager Diddlebock. There exists no doubt that Latham's playing was far below League standard. There is also no questioning the fact that Shortstop Cross has done himself and the team an injustice by trying to cover Latham's territory. As far as the benching of Latham is concerned, it is a matter of which should have been easy. Latham did not even make an attempt to get them. As far as the benching of Latham is concerned, it is a matter of which should have been easy. Latham did not even make an attempt to get them.

As for Niland, while he may have been released by Grand Rapids, there is no gaining saying the statement that he has played a very fair game in right field. His hitting during the last two games was excellent, and he will be a valuable asset to the team.

Latham claimed that Sheridan deliberately set a trap for him. He said that he hit Mr. Sheridan in the face. Both Latham, Sheridan and the other players deny that any blows were struck. Sheridan's face showed a slight abrasion on the chin just to the right of the nose. This led many persons to think that Latham hit him.

A Post-Dispatch reporter heard high words passed between the men in the dressing room after the game. "I'd like to fight you," said the umpire, "and I would like to fight you," said Latham, derisively. "Well, it's 100 to 1 I'd lick you." Then Sheridan walked out of the room.

During the seven games in which he officiated here Mr. Sheridan showed himself a capable, conscientious umpire. He left the players with an excellent idea of his ability while on the Southern trip in Texas. Although they would deny it if they were questioned on the subject, Connor, Cross, Quinn, Cooley, Dowd, Breitenstein and Hart all want Meyers on third. The big first baseman and the pitchers were especially anxious to see Latham suspended. Connor shines as a pitcher, stopping low throws and Hart and Breitenstein know they can win more games with Meyers in the game than they can with Latham. This feeling was rampant when the team returned from the South, but it was not until Wednesday that it was publicly manifested.

After his wretched showing in the first two games, the players fully expected that Latham would be removed. When this was not only not done, but Niland, his protegee, was put in right field, the disgruntled broke forth in a fierce flame. The players wanted Douglas in right, but they could not see why Shuehans was let out to make place for Niland, a man who was released by Grand Rapids, the worst team in the Western League last year according to the way the players figure it. Niland is the worst man on the team, but Latham, Hogan would have been preferable.

All this antagonism to Latham and Niland is due solely to the other players and their hitting in games. It is not the result of any private spite or outside ill-feeling. Every good player in the club is thoroughly imbued with the feeling that properly organized the club would be a better team. They feel that unless an immediate "shake up" took place they would be fighting for last place with the Browns.

"There is a first division team on that bench," said a Chicago player, yesterday, "but it is not on the bench."

During the past week the members of the regular team have been talking in words of double meaning, dropping hints about "the shake up" to the young men. Their remarks were meant for certain ears. Still, the young men are older wiser to see what kind of an order was to be given them. They were told they would be laid off and they were told they would be laid off.

The impending storm broke after yesterday's game. Feelings that had hitherto found expression in winks, smiles and innuendoes, were loudly and fearlessly voiced. The presence of Latham in no way covered or softened the young men. Their remarks were to the point and were meant for Manager Diddlebock's ear.

They freely charged that the Captain and third baseman was not doing his duty; that he let Monte Cross cover his territory for him; that he shirked his grounders; that he was playing a game calculated to make Latham shine at the expense of the team; and that his work on the coaching lines was contrary to the laws of good baseball and discipline.

They also made known their intense desire to have Douglas right field by loudly voicing their opinion that "he is the best hitter in the league, and should be in the game every day."

That the loud howls of discontent and dissatisfaction reached Manager Diddlebock's ears is evidenced by the fact that Mr. Latham will, if the programme outlined last night is carried out, warm the bench for some time to come.

While the Post-Dispatch has been for some time consistent of the dissatisfaction existing in the team, it was not until a late hour this morning that it was positively known that Latham had been laid off.
